

KIX EAP Podcast – Episode 13: Ukrainian Refugees with Disabilities and Multilingual Education in Moldova, with Ludmila Malcoci

Speaker biographical note

Dr. Ludmila Malcoci is the Executive Director of Keystone Moldova and Regional Director (Central and Eastern Europe) of Keystone Human Services International. She has decades of experience in management, research, and development in the Republic of Moldova and the wider region. Her work and organization have advocated for people with disabilities, inclusive education, gender equality, and more. She has worked with international organizations such as UNICEF, World Bank, and the Soros Foundation, along with various levels of government in Moldova, Kazakhstan, Russia, Romania, Belarus, Turkey, and Ukraine. Most recently, Keystone Moldova has been working with Ukrainian refugees with disabilities and students who have fled the war with Russia. Dr. Malcoci holds a Ph.D. Habilitate in Sociology from the Institute of Philosophy, Sociology and Law of the Academy of Sciences (Republic of Moldova) and an undergraduate university degree in Journalism from Chisinau State University.